Where Is Botox When You Need It?

Rachel Zoe, proudly showing off her wrinkles

The stylist for whom all the celebrities in Hollywood go wild is Zoe. She is, according to femalefirst.co.uk, 'one of the most influential names in fashion [...], the stylist responsible for making trends and dressing the cream of the A-list'. Good for them that they specified that she is the 'name' and not the 'face' everybody is dying for... On August 9, Zoe, like a celebrity that she is, attended the Rabin Rodgers party. But she forgot the one thing that real stars are always careful to do before presenting themselves in public: making sure they look absolutely gorgeous. Because Zoe is truly, really scaring. We're into all that stuff about aging gracefully but the stylist is only 33-years old. Does that mean she is old? No, not by her number of years. Her face, instead, seems to be implying something completely different. Zoe looks as if she were easily over 50 and, without even trying too hard, I can think of at least ten women who are way passed that age and look amazing. Well, probably the best example would be that of Sophia Lauren, who's 72 and still has that charm and beauty that made her a star years ago. Word of advice: Botox should always stand on the stylist's nightstand, just in case she has some place to go and forgets about it again...
