

31 January 2008

By: Calin Ciabai, Games Editor

Uhm... Uh... Er...
Never mind

World of Warcraft Porn and Nudity and Stuff

Green boobs and lascivious moves could never be so funny

Well, this is definitely something Fox News should consider (and I really wonder how come they didn't since it's not something really new, you know?). Or, at least, the guys who found the Hot Coffee mod disgusting could start a new action to get some money back. What should the rest of the world do? Well... except the 10 million who already play the game and probably got tired already of what the patch can do, the other can take a look and laugh on what the world (of Warcraft, in this case) is starting to become. There is a nude patch for World of Warcraft that has been surfacing the Internet for a while now, and tons of videos are available on YouTube already. Of course, since a nude patch is involved, all the content is not suitable for minors, so if you're not an adult, press the back button right now. Otherwise, you can take a look at the latest "WoW porn" video. The funniest thing about it is that it's probably meant to be sexy, exciting and so on, but it only manages to be hilarious. "So horny"? Give me a break, will you? Blue and green boobs? Oh, come on! Still, this video and all the other released ones, plus the nude patch itself prove that some people might be right when talking about the "pornographic video gaming". I don't know right now if that is a good or a bad thing, but now, honestly, how many of you would say "no" to a nude patch for Tomb Raider, for example? Oh, sorry, that one exists too. Well... you get the point. And before you get lost among the numerous WoW porn videos on YouTube searching for "The One", let me warn you, because we searched it for you: no, there is no huge, 10-million-people-involved, World of Warcraft orgy to be found. Which makes me wonder... when will people do some something really big?