UPDATE: Wyclef Jean&Norah Jones Charity Song Available for Download at the Price of 99 cents

Jean:"My heart is filled with tears for the victims"

Singers Wyclef Jean and Norah Jones have recorded a charity song in order to raise funds to help the victims of Hurricane Katrina."Any Other Day", described as a mournful yet optimistic ballad, is available for downloads starting today through MSN Music at the price of 99 cents and all proceeds will be donated to the American Red Cross and AmeriCare for Gulf Coast Hurricane Relief, according to a statement released on Thursday.The song's lyrics were written by both Jean and Jones, from the perspective of a victim seeking for a shelter: "I see the airplane. I hear the engine on the boat. But you all can't see me waving the flag. Somebody please wave the flag."Jean said through a statement: "My heart is filled with tears for the victims and all those who have lost loved ones in Hurricane Katrina and Rita. No one can challenge mother nature. All we can do now is bond together the best we can as one family and help everyone get back on their feet."
