

12 June 2006

By: Silviu Stahie, Video and PC Games Editor

iGames Prepares for Conquest with Exclusive Launch Events for 'Titan Quest'

Player prizes and cool goodies for everyone who comes to sample the new title from THQ!

WHAT: Leading game center organization iGames will host a series of special events co-sponsored by Intel, NVIDIA and EVGA to celebrate the release of THQ's eagerly anticipated Titan Quest, which ships to stores on June 26. WHEN: The first event will be a one-day premiere, Saturday, July 1, followed by an expanded showcase, July 3-16, allowing historical action-RPG fans one free hour over a two-week period to sample the eagerly anticipated title from Brian Sullivan, co-creator of the blockbuster Age of Empires series.

WHERE: - Premiere: 50 select iGames member centers across North America, including Canada and Mexico. - Showcase: 150 additional iGames member centers. WHY YOU SHOULD GO: - Prizes, Prizes, Prizes: Alongside the game itself, the highlight of the one-day premiere will be special launch competitions, with gamers battling it out for such prizes as an Alienware system, custom NVIDIA t-shirts, EVGA GeForce 7900 GT graphics cards, Intel Pentium D Processors, Altec Lansing headsets and Antec PC cases. - Cool FREE Stuff: Game T-shirts and other goodies to be raffled off for all attendees.